

This world map displays the 100 largest economies, with each country labeled by its name and a numerical value representing its economic size. The map is color-coded to show the distribution of these economies across the globe. The colors range from light blue (largest economies) to dark blue (smallest economies). The map shows a high concentration of large economies in North America, Europe, and East Asia, with a more diverse distribution of smaller economies across Africa, South America, and Oceania.
